Kern County opens Local Assistance Center (LAC) for residents impacted by the Borel Fire

Kern County will open a Local Assistance Center (LAC) for residents impacted by the Borel Fire. This “one-stop-shop” provides a singular location for survivors of the Borel Fire to access important State, local, and non-profit resources.

Residents can visit the Kern River Valley Senior Center located 6401 Lake Isabella Blvd., Lake Isabella, CA 93240 beginning Saturday, August 10, through Tuesday, August 13, from 10:00 a.m. – 7:00 p.m., daily.

As a reminder, anyone impacted by this fire can access these resources, whether or not they lost their home or had to evacuate.

Anyone impacted by the Borel Fire in any capacity are encouraged to call 661-873-2660 to speak with a live operator. Information reported will be used to identify which organizations are needed to be at the LAC to best serve the community.

For more information on Borel Fire support services please visit our website, here.
